VOL. XV. NO. 51. CHARLEROI, WASHINGTON CO., PA. WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 2, 1914 ONE CENT

ORDINANCE FOR BOND ISSUE IS TAKEN UP

Election Date of November 3 Time to Vote on Proposal

PURPOSE IS OUTLINED

Of $75,000 Fund, $65,000 Will be for Paving and $10,000 for New Building

An ordinance relating to and authorizing an election for a $75,000 bond issue, was presented to council Tuesday night by Borough Solicitor David M. McCloskey. The ordinance provides that the voters shall be allowed to vote on the question as to whether there shall be additional bonded indebtedness of $75,000 placed on the borough of Charleroi.

The bond election is to be held November 3, at the same time as the general election.

The ordinance further provides that $65,000 of the proposed bond issue is to be expended for paving purposes and that $10,000 is to be expended in the purchase of a site and the erection of a municipal building. The ordinance passed first reading. It will likely be taken up at a later meeting and formally passed, then preparations made for the election.

BUSINESS MEN CALL FOR COP

Would Like to Have Man on Corner at Fifth During the Noon Hour

WANT NO BURGLARIES

Several of the business men in the central part of town have suggested that a policeman be stationed at the corner of Fifth street and McKean avenue every day from 12 to 1 o'clock. This matter was referred to the borough council at their meeting Tuesday night.

The reason given for this suggestion is that most of the crimes, such as bank robberies are committed during the noon hour. A policeman stationed on this corner could see all the banks and watch them.

The matter was referred to Burgess S. L. Woodward by the borough council with the recommendation that the request be granted.

ANDREW M. THARP DIES AT HOME OF HIS PARENTS

Andrew M. Tharp, aged 6 months, died Tuesday evening at the home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. James Tharpe, at 427 Washington avenue. Funeral services will be conducted at the late home this evening at 7 o'clock by Rev. John R. Burson. Interment will be in the Flatwood cemetery.

Young People's Meeting

The services in the Baptist church this evening will be devoted to the consideration of the young peoples' work. All young people are invited.

Contracts Are Awarded

Highway Department Authorizes Improvement of Washington County Roads

The State Highway Department Harrisburg Tuesday awarded among eight contracts for roads the contracts for the improvement of a road through New Eagle borough and a continuation of the same road through Uniontown township and Finleyville borough. The New Eagle contract, which was for improving with brick block three-quarters of a mile of highway, was awarded to the Parson Construction company of Brownsville for $21,966.40. In Union township and Finleyville borough the contract for 7,700 feet of brick block and 1,050 feet of concrete was awarded to the Bell-Blockll company of Altoona, for $103,384.96.

MILEAGE ALSO IS AFFECTED

Railroads Would Declare War Prices on Travel ---Ask Permission

BOOKS TO COST $22.50

If the wishes of several railroads of the east are carried out purchasers of mileage books in Pennsylvania will have to pay for them at the rate of 2 1-4 cents a mile henceforth. Revised tariffs governing 1,000 mile tickets, advancing the mileage rate from two cents per mile to 2 1-4 cents per mile, to become effective October 1, 1914 have been filed with the Pennsylvania Public Service commission. Under the new tariffs, on and after October 1, the non-interchangeable mileage book will cost $22.50 instead of $20, as in effect prior to that date. The interchangeable mileage book will be sold at the same rate as heretofore, namely, $25, but the usual refund of $5 will be reduced to $2.50.

Representatives of the Pennsylvania Railroad, the Pittsburg and Lake Erie, the Baltimore and Ohio and the Bessemer and Lake Erie, representing the Central Freight commission appeared before the Public Service commission Tuesday asking permission for all roads publishing Pennsylvania intra-state rates to cancel all freight tariffs now under voluntary suspension effective on or before September 12. Authority was also asked to replenish the advance rates allowed by the Interstate Commerce Commission on less than statutory notice of three, five or ten days.

The commission agreed as to the withdrawal of the present rates, but reserved its decision regarding the proposition to make effective the 5 per cent increase on less than the statutory notice, this not affecting the question as to the reasonableness of the increased rates. The matter only involves that territory in the western part of Pennsylvania, which comes under the recent ruling of the Interstate Commerce Commission in awarding the increase.

COUNCIL ATTENDS TO MUCH BUSINESS

Estimates, Complaints, Petitions and Ordinances Among Matters Considered at Business Session Tuesday Evening

Much business was transacted by a full membership of council Tuesday night. The second estimate for the paving of Lincoln avenue from Sixth street to the intersection of Lincoln avenue with Washington avenue was accepted and a warrant ordered drawn in favor of Contractor Thomas Arrigo for $4,622.50. The final estimate for sewering on Oakland avenue was accepted and a warrant ordered drawn in favor of Thomas Arrigo for $305.71.

The treasurer's report for the month showed the total collections for the month to have been $5,222.25, disbursements $7,023.19 and a balance of $1,983.56. The tax collector turned in $3,455.66 as taxes for 1914. Burgess S. L. Woodward's report was accepted and a check for $185.60 received from him.

D. E. Kimmell requested council to be permitted to make a crossing on McKean avenue to his lots. The request was granted. William Armbuster asked for a grade for a side walk in front of his property on Crest avenue near Third street. The street committee was instructed to furnish such a grade. Miss Minnie Richardson was present before council relatives to a grade on Fourth street between Lincoln avenue and Lookout avenue. She stated that she wished to improve property there.

Borough Engineer Harvey Brown was instructed to look after the matter. T. D. Williamson complained of a water leak on Lincoln avenue between Fifth and Sixth street. No action was taken.

The ordinance for the purchase of a piece of property on Lincoln avenue near First street passed second and third reading and was finally passed Tuesday night by council during a suspension of rules. This property was purchased so that the dangerous curve at this place might be reduced.

Representatives of the labor council were present and requested council to pass an ordinance making an 8 hour day and a minimum wage of 25 cents per hour for the borough employees. The matter was referred to the ordinance committee.

Council instructed that Jacob Zeidman and M. Redd be notified to lay a sidewalk within 15 days or the borough will lay the same and collect from them. Street Commissioner Jacob Hormell was instructed to repair the guard rail along Lincoln avenue extension where five panels were torn out some time ago by an automobile and the bill be sent to Dr. V. Vieslet owner of the machine.

Council adjourned to meet Tuesday September 15 at which time the bond ordinance will come up for second reading.

COAL SHIPMENTS IN AUGUST LIGHT

Trade at Lock No. 4 Falls Below Record for August of 1913---Suspension of Mines the Cause of Trouble

Considering the fact that practically all the coal works along the Monongahela river have been almost or entirely closed down the coal shipments for the month of August were good.

Shipments through Lock No. 4 totaled 12,648,000 bushels. The shipments for August of 1913 were 16,807,000 bushels and for July of this year 13,282,000 bushels.

Through Lock No. 4 there were 516 lockages each way. The following is the record for down stream: Steamboats 245, number of crafts 1023, sand 15,000 bushels, gravel 42,000 bushels, lumber 13,000 feet, cement 200 tons, passengers 1223.

The following is the record for up stream shipments: Steamboats, 246, number of crafts 1029, sand 55,000 bushels, gravel 165,800 bushels, lumber 9,000 feet, cement 365 tons, passengers 1257.

The rainfall for August was 3.85 inches, while the rainfall for July was 2.51 inches. The rainfall for August, 1913, was only 1.17 inches. August as a general thing was dry, the rain being in the second and last weeks. The rain fall last Saturday was 1.04 inches.

Each Friday evening a Bible school is being held in the North Charleroi school building. A minister from Charleroi goes down each week and teaches the school. The Sunday school lesson for the next Sunday is taken up and studied.

MANY VALLEY MILLS RUNNING TO CAPACITY

Industrial Improvement Shown Along the Monongahela

BUSY WITH BUILDING

Contractors in Certain Lines Rushed---Barge Tie-up Delays Mine Resumption

Industrial skies are declared to be brightening in western Pennsylvania. Along the Monongahela river mills and some of the mines are starting operations. At Monessen mills are about all running full time. The Pittsburg Steel mill is and has been running practically to capacity for some time and the American Sheet and Tin Plate plant is reported to have started in full. The Page Fence company's factory at Monessen is operating to capacity. At Donora there has been little betterment shown within the last few weeks.

At McKeesport announcement has just been made of the enlargement of the plants of two of the town's industries.

The Morris-Bailey Steel company at Wilson, across from Glassport, will be materially enlarged at once. This will give work to several hundred more skilled laborers.

The Versailles Railway Signal company of Versailles, will also let a contract at once for the building of a large addition to their plant.

It is announced that the Portsville plant of the McKeesport Tinplate company will start work at once on the building of a large addition to their plant. This will mean an expenditure of close to a million dollars.

For the first time in months the Sharon Tinplate mill is running to capacity.

Mines in the Monongahela valley have not been running regularly this summer, due largely to their inability to obtain coal barges. This has been a discouraging feature all summer.

The opening of the Charleroi-Bentleyville line of the Westside Electric Railways company has given an added impetus to local business conditions. The local plants that have been running slowly all summer give an indication of their betterment.

Objections Are Heard

Some Folk Opposed to Opening up New Street Connecting With Twilight

Tuesday night was the time for objections to the paving of Tenth street, the opening up of Duvall street and the erection of the bridge across Maple creek in Duvall street, to be heard by council. There were no objections to the paving of Tenth street, but there were a number of persons much opposed to the opening of Duvall street and the erection of the bridge.

Duvall street is the new street recently authorized by council, which will with the aid of the bridge connect Lincoln avenue with the Twilight road. Many persons were heard both for and against the opening of the street. No action was taken.

DEMOCRATS WILL HOLD A MEETING

Palmer and McCormick Among "Big Guns" Coming to Charleroi

SUPPER TO BE FEATURE

Democracy in Charleroi will blow itself to a big demonstration on Friday and elaborate to the fullest possible extent in celebration of a visit here of some of the leading Democratic candidates in the state. The day will be Democratic day, for the so-called Progressives will not enjoy their rally here then, the visit of Gifford Pinchot and others of the crew having canceled their engagement to speak at the corner of Fifth street and Fallowfield avenue, owing to their forthcoming visit at Eldora park next Monday.

Heading the list of visitors and speakers on Friday evening among the Democrats will be Hon. A. Mitchell Palmer, candidate for U. S. Senator and Vance McCormick, candidate for governor. William J. McNair, Democratic candidate for secretary of internal affairs, M. J. Caton, Democratic candidate for secretary of internal affairs, M. J. Caton, Democratic candidate for congress at large. Samuel A. Barnum of California, candidate for Congress from the twenty-fourth district and John W. Stewart of Waynesburg, candidate for the state senate, will be in the party.

The beginning of the celebration will be a supper at a local hotel for Democrats and their friends. Band music to be furnished by the Charleroi Concert band and arrangements are being made to have speaking on the street at 7 o'clock.

MISS LULU GREGG BECOMES BRIDE OF WILLIAM SIMPSON

William Simpson, of Stockdale, and Miss Lulu E. Gregg, of California, were married in Pittsburg on Saturday, August 29. The bride is the second daughter of Robert Gregg and is a graduate of the normal in the class of 1903. She has been one of the ward principals in the Monessen schools for several years and has been a very successful teacher. She formerly taught in the Charleroi schools. Mr. Simpson is a demonstrator of mining machinery and is employed by the River Coal Co., his work being mostly through the hard coal regions. Mr. Simpson is a brother of J. D. Simpson of Windber, former superintendent of the Crescent mines at California.

A WORTHY CAUSE.

The establishment of a tuberculosis tent at the Charleroi Monessen hospital is a worthy cause and the movement deserves the boost that it is getting.

Perhaps the movement is not generally understood. At all times the sanitariums of Pennsylvania are filled to overflowing with tuberculosis patients. There is a large waiting list. Selections of patients from those in waiting must be made from time to time. In the past there has been no method of caring for sufferers previous to their entrance in the sanitariums, and then oftentimes is when they most need care.

It is to provide this temporary care that the tuberculosis tent has been established at North Charleroi. Miss Marie Watson of Monessen, who is in charge of tuberculosis work in this district is the one who personally deserves credit for organizing the movement. The citizens of the district have so far contributed nobly, but their work is not done. More equipment is needed and funds must be had.

That the establishment of the tuberculosis tent at North Charleroi is a decided benefit has already been attested. According to Miss Watson of two patients being cared for one has gained 17 and the other 6 1-2 pounds.

Perhaps the tent will be of greater use than even the founder dared hope. At any rate the health improvement of the two patients mentioned would tend to indicate that cures at the local institution will not be impossible. The Charleroi-Monessen hospital is admirably situated above the dirt and soot of the lowland. The tuberculosis tent could not be better located.

Tuberculosis sufferers exist in surprising numbers in this district we are reliably informed by physicians and by Miss Watson. The district has been well represented at the various sanitariums. The same trouble is always experienced in getting patients entered there. Probably the the same trouble will recur. This makes the value of the waiting tent most apparent.

"THRIFTY DON'TS"

S. W. Straus, president of the American Society for Thrift, has issued a card of "thrifty don'ts" that ought to be framed and hung in the kitchen of every housewife interested in keeping down the high cost of living. Here they are:

Don't telephone for groceries unless you specify as to quality and price.

Don't run in debt for necessaries; cash buying is always the better buying.

Don't be without the fireless cooker; it will soon save its cost. But get a non-inflamable sort.

Don't cook too much, merely to fill a garbage can.

Don't buy small quantities of staples; buy in bulk.

Don't fail to explain expenditures and to keep inside the limit you fix.

Don't be ashamed of saving pennies; otherwise you are "easy" prey.

Don't add to delivery expense by ordering at the last moment. Keep ahead of actual needs.

Don't patronize loan sharks. Get a co-operative credit union started to finance emergency needs.

Don't buy vegetables out of season and expect low prices.

Don't think spendthrifts need be capitalists. One can be a spendthrift with a dollar as well as with larger sums.

Don't let false pride cost you money. There is no happiness in it.

Don't feel too sure you are getting the most possible out of your expenditures; learn what "hard pan" really is.

Don't forget that peace of mind is better than things you cannot afford.

Don't forget either that you always can afford courtesy, kindness and a smile.

It is safe to say that any woman following strictly the advice laid down in the foregoing can cut her expenses 10 per cent says an exchange. Too often we blame high prices when we should blame our own inclination to careless expenditure. System is needful in the management of the kitchen just as it is in business. The woman who is letting 10 per cent of her household expenses, or even a smaller proportion, get away from her without proper return is wasteful, and a wasteful woman ought to be the last person to complain of high living costs.

Getting Back

In mid-July when people fry
They want a beach by breezes swept
But things at home begin to boom
With the return of dear old Sept.

The rooms were good, we had nice food
And our hotel was really kept.
But we would state that home looks great
With the return of dear old Sept.

Along the track we hustled back.
That pesky train, it fairly crept.
For folks who roam are keen for home
With the return of dear old Sept.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

A Monongahela valley young man started one fine evening to a dance with his lady friend. She was togged out in her finest and was indeed a beautiful picture.

Evidently the young man was not a person acquainted with the vanities of a prettily attired miss, nor a good observer. Had he been the latter he would have discovered that she was particularly anxious to have him notice her new creation of gown, and to comment upon it.

When she could bear his silence on that one important question no longer, she burst out: "Well, how do you like my new dress?"

He replied. "It's inconspicuous."

Carroll Phelps Pouiteney, a Wheeling clubman, told a story the other day about a West Virginian, says an exchange.

"The total dryness of our state," he said, "made a certain Bluefield man prize liquor as he'd never done before. He set off for Atlantic City after a month or two or dryness, and the misfortune to be nearly drowned. But a sunburnt lifeguard saved him. Dripping and unconscious, the lifeguard laid him across a barrel. A bottle was uncorked. It approached his lips. But at this point the Bluefield man's pale lips fluttered, and his weak hand waved the bottle feebly away.

"'Not yet, boys,' he faltered. 'Not yet. Roll me on the barrel first and get some of the salt water out of me. If you don't it'll weaken the liquor."

HENRY RAINBOW KILLED BY TRAIN AT MONONGAHELA

The body of Henry Rairbow of Huston Run aged 18 years, single, was found on the Pennsylvania Railroad company's tracks near Monongahela Tuesday evening about 8:30 o'clock. He was last seen alive at the Huston Run station about 7 o'clock. It is not known how he came to be killed, but it is presumed that he had attempted to ride a freight train from his home to Monongahela and in some way fell under the wheels. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Alice Rainbow and one brother and one sister.

UNDERSTOOD ALL THE REST

On Only One Comparatively Unimportant Point Was the Juror at Fault.

It quite often happens that in addressing a jury, the lawyers will deliver their appeals to the one member who seems to them the most intelligent. They consider that by so doing they can impress him and his influence upon the other members will be valuable.

In a recent case, all the testimony had been taken, the lawyers had summed up and the judge had charged the jury, when the juror who appeared the most intelligent, and to whom both counsel had made their impassioned appeal, arose, and stated that he wished the court to give him some information.

"I have been bothered a great deal," he said, "about two words the lawyers have been using all the time."

"What are they?" asked the court, expecting to be called upon to explain the meaning of some words like "res inter alios acta."

"Why, the words that I don't know the meaning of," said the juror, "are 'plaintiff' and 'defendant.'"—Exchange.

Women Carried Dogs Long Ago.

Plutarch wrote about women who carried dogs about in their arms, and one of the Roman emperors said something about women who fussed over lapdogs when they should be lavishing their attention upon babies. The emperor wasn't, and probably didn't pretend to be, making an original observation.

The fact about dogs—and it is not new—is that some persons like them greatly, some like them less and some do not like them. It is very much the same about boiled turnips or clam chowder. But depth of feeling and easily engendered animosity, suddenness in quarrel, are sometimes more noticeable in discussions of the question of whether dogs should be liked than of whether the flavor of turnips is agreeable or otherwise, though the discussion is as fruitless of other results as an argument about flavor.

Roman Coins Long Hidden.

Discovery of Roman coins has just been made by a workman at Balgreggan Quarry, in the parish of Stonehirk Scotland. While the quarrymen were removing soil from the top of the rock they came upon a large number of coins about a foot from the surface. On a further search being made over a hundred bronze coins were found, some of them in excellent preservation. They represent the reigns of five or six Roman emperors and empresses, and the portraits and figures of men in various attitudes of the chase and war are in many cases remarkably distinct. Part of an urn of baked clay was also found with the coins. It is ribbed on the inside, and probably contained the ashes of ancient warriors, as well as being a repository for the coins. It is believed that the coins have lain where they were found for a thousand years. Articles of antiquarian interest have already been found in the district.

Had Fun With Bridegroom.

An amusing sequel to the marriage of a young Scots Grey bandsman and a beautiful girl occurred not long ago. At the wedding which took place by special license at Mt. Mary's church, Sheffield, the bride was accompanied only by a girl friend. The secret leaked out, and the comrades of the bridegroom flocked into the church. The band was fulfilling an engagement at an exhibition in the city, and the bridegroom had to hasten from the church to take his place for a performance. To his amazement the bandmaster, as soon as the musicians had taken up their instruments, gave out a wedding march. While the bridegroom was bravely playing his own marriage music some people in the stall showered confetti on him.—London Mail

MADE THE WORLD BRIGHTER

Music Lovers Everywhere Acknowledge the Debt They Owe Felix Mendelssohn.

What musician does not love the name of Felix Mendelssohn? Those fortunate enough to hear symphonies and oratorios have revelled in the beauties of his greater works such as The Scotch Symphony, "A Calm Sea and Prosperous Voyage," the Fingal's Cave, and other overtures, St. Paul and the Elijah, which is so dramatic, it has lately been given with stage settings. The music to Midsummer Night's Dream makes Shakespeare's fairy comedy even more enjoyable than before. We realize more fully the lightsome grace of tiny elves, the merry jests of Puck, and above all, the happy union of Oberon and Titania. Their Wedding March voices the note of joy at how many a nuptial gathering, from those held in stately cathedrals with crowned heads attending, to those taking place in some remote village chapel where simple villagers form the bridal procession.

Many a woman's chafed spirit finds relief in playing those gems for the piano called Songs Without Words.

Mendelssohn's father, having embraced Christianity, desired Felix to add his mother's name Bartholdy to his own decidedly Jewish appellation. The full signature, Felix Mendelssohn Bartholdy appears after some compositions, but Mendelssohn, the Musician, belongs neither to Judaism nor to Christianity, but to the whole happy world of music lovers.

SHRINE TO BRING BUFFALO

Ancient Indian Ceremonial in Times of Drought and Famine Now in Philadelphia.

No longer fulfilling its ancient purpose of charm to provide large buffalo herds for the Indian of the plains there is on exhibition at the University of Pennsylvania museum a sacred shrine of the Hidatsa Indians, which has been added to the Heye collection of American ethnological objects. It is believed to be the only shrine of its nature ever erected by the Indians.

The shrine was set up in a large earthen-covered hut near the line between Montana and the Dakotas. It consists of four posts stuck into the ground, on which rest two shelves. On the lower shelf is a very ancient buffalo skull resting in a bed of leaves from the pennyroyal plant. On the uppershelf are two human skulls painted red.

It was the custom of the natives to make gifts to the shrine whenever they wanted the gods to answer a prayer.—Philadelphia Dispatch to the New York Sun.

Doctors Lose by Telephone.

"Do you know," said the doctor apologetically to the patient waiting in his office," that this prescribing by 'phone is becoming a serious business for us doctors. Now, if I had no 'phone I would be called to the house and I would charge my regular fee for a visit. But if I attempted to charge for prescribing over the telephone I would be thought an extortionist. Yet there is no reason why I should not be paid for my advice over the telephone just as much as if I sat at the patient's bedside and prescribed. Take, for instance, a case which should be watched for three or four days. Instead I'm told, 'we'll call you, doctor, if there is any change.' And then proceed to call me over the telephone, give me the symptoms and ask what is to be done. Of course, there is no excuse for going to the patient's side after the telephone bulletin, unless there is a turn for the worse. So I'm cut right out of a fee for a visit. I believe that we physicians should get together and agree to charge a certain sum for prescribing over the telephone."

Artist and Parvenu.

Phil Morris, the eminent portrait painter, who died when his fame was at its height, had a very unpleasant experience whilst visiting a wealthy merchant who had commissioned him to paint his wife and baby for the sum of £700. The first evening Mr. Morris and his "employer" were discussing the "pose," and the artist, thinking that he had hit on a brilliant suggestion, said it would be effective if the child were lying on the hearthrug with just a vest on, and his mother leaning over, playing "This little pig went to market."

"How dare you, sir! Do you wish to insult me?" I've half a mind to countermand my order," roared the irate wealthy magnate. Poor Phil Morris couldn't think what harm he had done until a few days later he learned that his patron had made his money in "pork," and was known as the "bacon king."

Method of Spearing Fish.

In spite of the march of civilization, there remains much that is still primitive in Sicily, and a curious sight at Palermo is to see the fishermen spearing fish in the harbor by the aid of glass-bottomed buckets (says the Wide World Magazine). There are many corners of the world where fish are speared, but perhaps the use of the glass-bottomed bucket in this connection is to be seen only at Palermo. The fishermen lean far over the side of their boats, and hold the bucket on the water with one hand, poking their heads into it as if engaged in the Hallowe'en game of ducking for apples. They hold a spear poised in the free hand, and thus await the arrival of their victims, who are sighted through the glass bottom of the bucket, which acts as a kind of telescope.

SHOWS HER TRUE CHARACTER

Floorwalker Has Observed That Woman on Shopping Expedition Reveals Herself as She Is.

Someone has said that you can always judge the caliber of a man by the manner in which he amuses himself. My experience of 15 years as floorwalker in one of the largest department stores in the country has convinced me that you can always judge a woman by the way in which she shops—which, after all, is only another way of saying the manner in which she amuses herself.

I have learned to realize that when the average woman goes on a shopping expedition—when she has taken up the trail of the bargain, determined to track it to its native counter—she brings all her cleverness into play, and in the zest of the chase she is certain to reveal her true self and unconsciously drop the mask she wears on most social occasions.

Always on the alert, always eager to bring down the game, big or little, with a timely purchase, these shoppers you will see browsing about the counters in and out of season. You will see them questioning the salesgirls, trying to learn in advance when reductions are to be made. You will see them pick out some article and then come in day after day and watch its price tag. Then when the price is lowered to the point where they think it is a bargain, you will see them pounce on it and carry it home.—Woman's World.

DR. PARKER'S TWO SERMONS

And How He Got the Morning Congregation Back to His Church at Night.

A characteristic story of Dr. Parker was told by a minister who had it from an old minister who was much interested in Joseph Parker's early work as a local preacher, says the British Weekly. One Saturday he met Parker and asked him whether he had an engagement for Sunday. "Yes," was the reply.

"Are your sermons ready, Joseph?" asked the minister.

"I have the morning sermon," was the reply, "but I am not sure about the evening."

"Well, Joseph, what is your text for the morning and how do you treat it?"

Parker went over his text and the outline of his sermon.

"But, Joseph," said the minister, "that is very clever, but it is not the real meaning of the text. If you will look at the commentaries you will see that you are wrong."

Parker thanked him and went his way. On the Monday the minister again met his friend.

"Well, Joseph, how did you get on yesterday?"

"Very well," was the reply.

"How did you manage?"

"Well," he said, "in the morning I preached my sermon and explained the text in my way, and at the close I said: 'This is how I understand it. But learned men understand it differently, and I will tell you in the evening how the learned men understand it.'"

They all came back in the evening, and Joseph had a happy day.

LITTLE KNOWN OF VAST LAND

Immense Tracts in Empire of China That Have Never Been Surveyed or Even Explored.

A large tract of the great Chinese empire has never been surveyed or even explored. As a result, all sorts of varying estimates as to the size of China have been given. Any estimate can merely be an approximation representing the last guess. This last guess is estimated to be about 4,000,000 square miles for China's area—about 500,000 miles larger than the total area of our United States. While one of the eighteen provinces of China is several thousand square miles smaller than our own state of Texas, yet within the borders of this Chinese province there have been dwelling 20 times as many Chinese inhabitants as there are Americans who dwell in our great state of Texas.

The size of our own state of Indiana corresponds approximately to the size of the very smallest of all the 18 Chinese provinces. There are, however, more than five times as many Chinamen dwelling within their native province as there are Americans living in our Hoosier state.

The ratio of five to one applies generally when making population comparisons between any locality of China and America. Usually when the Chinese empire is referred to what is meant is China proper. This latter is composed of 18 provinces. There are in addition to this certain dependencies of China, known as territories. These are overrun with mountains, vast stretches of desert land, high plateaus and varying densities of population.

Manchuria is one of these dependencies, and its size is about three times the size of the British islands. Mongolia is another vast territory lying to the north and measuring nearly 1,500,000 square miles in area. To the south and westward lie the dependencies of Tibet and of Turkestan, a locality of severely rugged and desolate country. Less than 1,000,000 Celestials roam within these two territories.

If you wish to travel from Peking in Northern China to Hongkong in southern China, you will have a sea voyage of 2,000 miles to cover after you sail from the port of Tien-tsin. You do not fully appreciate the vast distances you have to travel in China until you actually become a visitor in this strange land and are compelled to secure transportation somehow, some way, no matter how rudimentary. China is a country of gigantic sizes and vast areas, but when it secures our occidental railways and trolley lines throughout its empire distance will be annihilated beyond China's fondest dream.—Clyde Witmer.

Making Carnegie Irish.

Lancelot F. Madden, Irish historian rises to remark that the story that Andrew Carnegie derived his surname from a Hungarian ancestor is absurd "Carnegie or O'Carnegie," says he, "is identical with the names of O'Carney, O'Kearney and O'Carnegie, and is, like them, derived from the original Irish or Gaelic names of O'Cearnaighe The family is well known in Irish annuals and is a branch of the O'Maddens of Ulster."

VALUE OF PROPER SPELLING

Attribute Highly Valued in Commercial Life, and Is a Sense to Be Developed.

Good spelling and intelligent punctuation are the accomplishments that keep many gray-haired women drawing good salaries as stenographers in downtown offices. The manager of a typewriting office from which are sent hundreds of stenographers makes no secret of the fact that good spellers are scarce.

"We had a customer come in the other day," said the manager, "who had evidently had a run of hard luck in the spelling line. He wanted a woman who could spell. 'No matter if she's cross-eyed and has a hunch on her back,' he said, 'if she can spell and write an intelligent letter.' While this was a rather extreme case it shows that employers are beginning to grow impatient over the careless spelling of today."

Another office sending out many stenographers has a series of test letters prepared especially with spelling catches for the unwary. Common words, famous as pitfalls for careless spellers, are strewn throughout these specimen letters. Fully half the applicants put an extra e in separate; in many cases the e before the last syllable in noticeable is missing, while the correct placing of the i's in the word parallel reduces many of the applicants to a state of discouragement.

"Good spelling is a pretty sure sign of mental alertness," said a business man with several offices and many stenographers. "I find that if one of our stenographers is naturally a good speller she is interested in the correct spelling and use of new words that come to her attention in reading or in dictation. Now as a matter of fact it is no small job to keep up with the spelling of the hundreds of new words.

"Our oldest stenographer and our best speller keeps on her desk a little book not more than an inch thick but it has more first aids to poor spellers than anything I've ever seen. She doesn't use it much, but everybody else does."—Chicago Record-Herald.

PENROSE NAILS DESPICABLE LIE

His Version of Archbold Matter Dismays Enemies.

MEETS THE ISSUE SQUARELY

Does Not Hesitate to Tell the Full Particulars of the Transaction and Once Again Proves that His Entire Political Career Is an Open Book. Iniquitous Conspiracy Denounced by Reputable Newspapers.

Philadelphia, Aug., 31.—Senator Penrose's open and straightforward way of meeting the Archbold contribution lie has thrown havoc into the camps of his political enemies. They find themselves left without a single thread of argument that might reflect upon the personal character of the Republican candidate for United States senator.

During the entire thirty years that Senator Penrose has been in public life those opposed to him have gone to every extreme in an effort to find something that might besmirch his reputation for honesty and fair dealing. Failure met every such attempt because the career of the man is an open book containing nothing that should be concealed, explained or defended.

Two years ago the Penrose haters decided that something would have to be done to at least put a dent into the splendid reputation for honor and honesty possessed by the senior senator from Pennsylvania. They went back over all the campaigns he participated in for the past twenty years, investigated all his movements and found nothing on which to launch their campaign of defamation but a check which passed from John D. Archbold to Senator Penrose as a contribution to the Republican campaign of 1904, when Senator Penrose was state chairman.

Low Conspiracy.

This was eagerly seized upon and the transaction so twisted as to give the impression that Senator Penrose committed a wrong in accepting this money for the election of President Roosevelt. The strange part of this despicable conspiracy against Senator Penrose is the part played in it by members of the Washington party who are followers of Colonel Roosevelt, the only beneficiary of the Archbold contribution.

Instead of treating the falsehood with silence, as his enemies expected he would, Senator Penrose has never hesitated to explain the transaction from beginning to end, with the result that the wicked movement has fallen flat. That reputable newspapers have no sympathy with this underhand scheme to injure Senator Penrose is seen from the following clear and concise editorial from the Philadelphia Inquirer of Aug. 24:

An Ugly Falsehood.

"In 1904 John D. Archbold sent a check for $25,000 to Boies Penrose. A magazine without a conscience and a yellow newspaper or two deliberately manufactured, eight years later, out of that incident a base libel. Without the slightest regard for truth they labored in season and out to induce the people to believe that here was an underhand transaction between a United States senator and one of the leading minds of the Standard Oil company.

"That ugly falsehood was maliciously forged for political purposes in 1912. It is now in use in various parts of Pennsylvania in the anti-Penrose campaign.

"With the remark that the man who debases himself to the level where he can bring himself to resort to this sort of campaigning gives a most striking example of the depth of political depravity to which it is possible for a reckless partisan to sink, we shall pass on to the rapid annihilation of the lie.

"It is an easy task. For particulars and full corroboration of what we are about to say, see the testimony submitted in 1912 before a sub-committee of the United States senate committee on privileges and elections. The subject under inquiry was that of political contributions in general.

"In 1904 Theodore Roosevelt was the candidate of the Republican party for president. In that campaign the Republican national committee collected huge sums of money by way of political contributions. Corporation after corporation gave thousands upon thousands, [illegible] E. H. Harriman raised a very large amount—"My dear Harriman," [illegible] Roosevelt used to write to [illegible] Archbold, for the Standard, [illegible],000 in all.

"[illegible] the custom for national committees to help state committees. The chairman of the Republican national committee was Boies Penrose. [illegible]ch in favor with Roosevelt. [illegible] Penrose applied to the national committee for funds. It was agreed with Mr. Archbold that out of the $125,[illegible] he was to contribute $25,000 should go to Pennsylvania for the Roosevelt campaign in this state.

"Now you have the whole story briefly told. Mr. Archbold sent his $25,000 to Chairman Penrose, it was receipted for by Penrose as chairman, and the money was used strictly for campaign purposes—for the benefit of Theodore Roosevelt.

"We have no good word to say for the custom under which corporations used to swell the treasuries of political committees. Suffice it to say that it was the custom of years. What is more, contributions were not as a rule confined to a single political party. They were made to the Democratic organization as well as to the Republican. In those days nothing much was thought of this easy method of raising campaign funds, for it had the sanction of many a year.

"We have advanced since 1904, when the campaign chests of Mr. Roosevelt were largely filled with corporation money. Now such contributions are prohibited by law. But there was no law on the subject in the Roosevelt campaign, and the $25,000 sent by Mr. Archbold for the Roosevelt canvass in Pennsylvania had no special significance. It was the custom of the day, that was all.

Man of Strict Honesty.

"The attempt to connect Senator Penrose with any shady transaction through this campaign contribution is iniquitous in the extreme, for if there is a member of the senate of the United States whose record has been free from every suspicion of "graft" or personal financial gain that member is Boies Penrose. His enemies have raked over the ground covered by his nearly eighteen years in the senate and this political contribution is the one thing that they have been able to twist into an unfavorable light. Unfortunately for them, sworn testimony before the senate committee stamps with black letters of falsehood the output of their disreputable distortions.

"The enemies of Penrose may not agree with him in his views upon the protection of Pennsylvania industries and the necessity for keeping the mills open and men employed at good and growing wages, but not one of them can truthfully say that strict honesty has not marked every year of his long and conspicuous service.

"And by the way, 'lest we forget,' Chairman Penrose rolled up a majority of upwards of 500,000 in Pennsylvania in that year of 1904, and among the letters commending him for the great work was the following:

"'My dear Senator Penrose: Upon my word! Of all phenomenal returns, the Pennsylvania returns are most phenomenal. I congratulate and cordially thank you. Faithfully yours,

"'THEODORE ROOSEVELT.'"

Stage Bells.

"Parsifal" is interesting, quite apart from its artistic merit, as having had a musical instrument invented for it and named after it. The reproduction of the sound of church bells in opera was long a difficulty. Real bells simply drowned the orchestra, and all substitutes were tried in vain until Dr. Moti designed the Parsifal bell instrument, somewhat on the principle of the grand piano. Each of its five notes has six strings, which are struck by large hummers covered with cotton wool. And the result is as near to the solemn sound of church bells as the theater has been able to get.—Boston Herald.

First to "Put His Foot In It."

It was a bishop of olden times who first "put his foot in it," and ever since then the most ordinary layman who makes a blunder is said to "put his foot in it." It was not the bishop's fault, after all, but the housewives who ran to the doors and windows every time the good bishop passed and asked for his blessing, and while getting it they let the porridge burn. Then they blamed the bishop for the trouble and said "the bishop put his foot in it."—Milwaukee Journal.

The Spanish Flag.

The red and yellow of the Spanish flag is said to be derived from this occurrence: In 1378 Charles the Bold dipped his fingers in the blood of Geoffrey, count of Barcelona, and drew them down the count's golden shield in token of his appreciation of the latter's bravery. The shield, so marked, became the arms of Barcelona, which became part of Aragon, and its arms were taken by that kingdom.

Seymour's Long Hit.

There have been many sensational four bagger knocked out by the heavy sluggers of the big leagues, but a hit once made by Cy Selmour in Boston is the daddy of them all. The ball sailed over the fence and fell into a coal car attached to a fast freight and was found by a brakeman when the train reached New York.

The Element of Difficulty.

"Is it hard to learn the use of a telescope?" asked the student.

"Not very," replied the candid professor. "The hardest thing about astronomy is guessing what something is after you manage to see it."—Washington Star.

Winding Clocks.

Be careful about winding clocks. Wind them always at the same time and never wind them too tight. Find out just how many full turns of the key it takes to wind the clock to the proper point and always stop with that number of turns.

Roquefort Sheep.

The milk of a single Roquefort sheep will in a year provide from thirty to forty pounds of cheese. In that district of France there are about 5000 sheep devoted to the cheese industry.

BENTLEYVILLE

A carnival which was located in a valley town has arrived. There were several cars loaded with the equipment and some 35 helpers, performers, etc., arrived to make the town happy. A great many of the people arrived Sunday and experienced great difficulty in finding lodging. After all had passed from one end to the other of the town a great many times all finally located quarters for the night.

Anthony Vernellis Recovering.

Anthony Vernellis, a farmer of this section, who was wounded some time ago when he was thrown from an angry colt alighting upon his head, has convalesced sufficiently to return to his home here. After entering the hospital the doctors were able to stop the flow of blood from his nose and ears in a short time. This the attending local surgeon was unable to stop. When the blood flow had been stopped it was learned that his skull was not fractured. Vernellis expects to take up work on his farm in a week or two.

Services at Campground.

The present services at the Bentleyville camp grounds being held under the auspices of the Pentecost church of the Nazarene of the Pittsburg district do not command as large an attendance as did the regular campmeeting services conducted by the Union Holiness Association. This religion is a new feature to the vicinity and a great many attend to satisfy curiosity.

Is Injured While Sinking Well.

Walter McCarty a young man of this place, was severely injured while at work Monday sinking a well on the O. M. Frye property on Washington street. McCarty was engaged at work digging in the well when his assistant, Cabby McClain, overset a large iron bucket. The bucket fell into the well, the rim striking McCarty fairly on the top of the head. The sharp rim cut deep and the blood gushed in streamlets The wounded man was drawn from the well and hustled to the doctor's office. McCarty suspended work for the day after the wounds had been dressed; luckily the cut was not deep enough to cause serious skull developments.

Engagement Announced

Dr. and Mrs. Alexander N. Booth, of Bentleyville, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Sevilla Vale Booth and Joseph Wilbur Huffman, a son of the late J. A. Huffman. Rev. J. Calvin French of Frenchtown N. J will marry the couple Thursday evening September 17 at 7:30 in the home of the bride-to-be. Both the prospective bride and bridegroom are well known among the younger set in Bentleyville and vicinity. Mr. Huffman is assistant cashier in the Farmers and Miners bank.

Benefit of the Doubt

At the club the other night a member of the Seventh regiment found himself the center of a group who were discussing the likelihood of an invasion of Mexico by the National Guard. Cheerful remarks about the penetrative powers of Mauser bullets peppered about him. Everybody had kindly suggestions to make—such, for instance, as that a medal neatly adjusted over each bullet-hole would make him look as good as new. The victim took it very well

"I'd like to contribute just one remark to this discussion," he said "If I'm reported shot in the back, remember that I may have turned around to encourage my men."—New York Evening Post.

HARD TO RUN DOWN

HUNTERS FOLLOW MOUNTAIN SHEEP THREE DAYS.

Finally Corner Two, Believed to Be the Only Specimens Alive in Captivity—Their Jumping Powers Marvelous.

Columbia gardens, Butte's pleasure park, has added to its zoological department two mountain sheep, believed to be the only specimens in captivity. The mountain sheep are the wisest, wariest and wildest animals that inhabit the cragged ranges, and few of this species have been captured alive.

An interesting story is told of the capture for it was not done in a day. For three days and three nights, without sleep and with rests that were but sporadic, N. H. Pearl and W. J. Cavanaugh trailed their quarry. This was the end of a three weeks' chase At last they caught these wildest of wild things They are rams, little more than two weeks old, yet able to outrun the average horse.

The men carried the kicking, squirming, fighting lambs 20 miles over ridge and through valley to Midvale the eastern entrance to the Glacier national park. Mr. Pearl says:

"The sheep were caught in the continental divide near Cutbank pass, at an elevation of between 8,000 and 9,000 feet. They were about a week old, I think. We had been at it three weeks before we had our chance. These mountain sheep are much wiser than mountain goats

They know every rock in the hills, and the slightest disturbance sends them bounding off. Many times have we looked at a band of sheep at long distance through field glasses We would lie perfectly still behind rocks, but never was it more than a few minutes until some ewe would spy us and give warning

'The little sheep can outrun a horse almost at birth, and these two led us a long and hard chase. They jumped off places so high we thought they had surely been killed, upon ledges where a man could not have stood

We never really caught up with them. Finally, seeming to realize that we would not be shaken off, they lost their cunning and we caught them in a trap in a cleft in the rocks. They couldn't get out of this place and we had them."

"You have no idea from what heights a mountain goat can leap" said Ranger Cavanaugh "I've seen them jump from the dizziest places and alight with all four feet bunched as light as a cat. Never have I seen one injured These Big Horn sheep are the greatest leapers in the world"

Activities of Women.

Women outnumber the men by 1,911 in New York city, according to the last census

The French parliament has rejected the bill granting the franchise to women.

Gold in the Philippines.

Rich placer gold is reported to have been discovered on the site of the old church in the Borrio of Malaguit in Paracale, Philippines. The vein is supposed to be directly beneath the building and in the surrounding grounds. Recently prospectors from a dredging company entered the old town and located rich gold fields on the old church property in the center of the town. Gold in paying quantities was found in the rear of the church lot. Under the provisions of the mining laws the property comes under the claims of the dredging company. An offer has been made by the company to purchase all the buildings, remove the church and all residences to a convenient site, build a new city and give the old town a new lease of life. Just what the outcome of the offer will be cannot be even guessed at, as there is a wild flurry in that locality, especially among those who have lived for years on the ground and have never for a minute dreamed of gold in abundance beneath their residence.

Always Work for Him.

"And what do you do in the dull season?" we asked the Fool Killer.

"What dull season?" exclaimed the Fool Killer.

"Why, when the Man Who Rocks the Boat and the Man Who Didn't Know It Was Loaded quit operations. What do you do then?"

"Oh, I get on the trail of the Man Who Knows It All," replied the Fool Killer.—Cincinnati Enquirer.
